

Become a Food for All Ambassador!

- Get to know inspiring people while advocating for a great cause
- Get lots of (delicious) free food
- Work in a fast-growing & mission-driven startup

Are you passionate about food and how it relates to social and environmental causes? Do you want to work with a company that creates lasting change in the food system?

Food for All mission is to curb food waste by increasing accessibility to quality food and empowering food vendors that are socially and environmentally responsible.

As an ambassador, you will be on the front lines of Food for All growth in NYC and work closely with our marketing team. You will represent Food for All in your campus and be responsible for spreading the word about us as well as for building strategic relationships.

Duties include online advocacy, community-outreach efforts, promotions, etc.

If you are interested, please send an email to juleen@foodforall.com stating your motivations to join us and why you will be great at the job until Jan 24th.

FOOD for all

www.foodforall.com