Roundtable Coordinators:

David Tabak, NERA Economic Consulting
Paul Zarowin, NYU Stern School of Business

Roundtable Overview:

One of the interesting recent trends in securities litigation is a focus on actions by individuals, including allegations of insider trading and claims of improper recommendations by brokers. As threats to class certification loom at the Supreme Court level, this Roundtable focuses on allegations that affect both individuals and classes both in small, individual cases and high-profile situations.
This Ross Roundtable, in cooperation with NERA Economic Consulting, brings together a panel of top experts from a range of perspectives and backgrounds to examine in-depth recent developments in shareholder litigation and regulatory enforcement, the impact of regulatory reform, and current academic research. Our panelists will present data and analysis relevant to current and future securities litigation as well as information from their personal experiences working on cases including the Mark Cuban insider trading case that went to trial in 2013.

Confirmed Roundtable Presenters:

- Christopher J. Clark, Partner, Latham & Watkins, LLP
- Patrick Conroy, Senior Vice President, NERA Economic Consulting
- Erin McHugh, Senior Consultant, NERA Economic Consulting
- David P. Meyer, Founding Principal, Meyer Wilson Co., LPA
- Lindsay H. Tomenson, Director and Associate General Counsel, Citigroup Global Markets Inc.
- Angela A. Turiano, Member, Bressler, Amery & Ross, P.C.

<th>Learning Objectives: The Ross Roundtable provides a forum for &quot;public opinion shapers&quot; -- business writers, financial analysts, educators, corporate financial executives, regulators, etc. -- to discuss with policymakers important developments in capital markets and the financial world. To provide ample opportunity for participants to voice their opinions, the size of the Roundtable is limited.</th>
