

Public Policy and Management
Joint Stern-Wagner Undergraduate Minor

In today's global society, the interdependencies of the market, community, and state sectors have created a need for individuals who possess a deep understanding of both the public and private spheres. This interdisciplinary minor enables students to:

- Study sector-specific convergence, divergence, and challenges in management practices;
- Examine political influences on local, domestic, and international policy;
- Explore sustainability issues within the sectors; and
- Understand the nuances of effective leadership.

COURSE OFFERINGS FOR PUBLIC POLICY & MANAGEMENT MINOR (14-UNIT MINIMUM)

All students must complete a minimum of fourteen units to satisfy the inter-school minor requirements and must take at least six units in each school.
