Invites You to a Forum on:

The Impact of Corporate Governance on Financial Reporting and Capital Markets

The Sarbanes-Oxley Act has been in effect since 2002 and has had a substantial impact on the governance of publicly-held companies, privately-held companies and nonprofit organizations. Our forum will discuss the evolution and current status of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, as well as its impact on financial reporting and capital markets.

A distinguished group of academics, professionals and industry experts will address issues, including whether more effective governance or an extension of the concepts defined by the Act could have averted the current subprime crisis and scandals, such as the Société Générale debacle. The forum will also examine the roles and responsibilities of executives and board members in establishing and maintaining effective governance, and discuss the role of regulators and professionals in the current environment. How the extension of certain concepts and requirements of the Act may affect or encourage good governance in privately-held and nonprofit organizations, as well as the related economic costs, will also be considered.

This event is made possible by the generous support of Mark S. Lilling and The Audit Committee Consulting Team LLC.
