HKUST - NYU STERN
Master of Science in
GLOBAL FINANCE

Best of Both Worlds

New York University Stern School of Business

Located in New York City, New York University's Stern School of Business is both a top-rated business school and one of the world's leading research institutions. A proud part of Stern's heritage is its consistently top-ranked finance department and faculty.

Stern faculty members are well known for their mastery of subject matter, their contributions to original research in their respective fields, and for their ability to convey complex material in clear, relevant and interesting ways. Students also benefit from unparalleled access to Wall Street and the world's leading practitioners who are adjunct faculty and guest speakers in their classes.

HKUST Business School

Established in 1991, the HKUST Business School has risen to international prominence in a remarkably short period of time, achieving widespread global recognition and a variety of prestigious academic rankings, including both the Kellogg-HKUST EMBA Program and the HKUST MBA Program being ranked No. 1 in the world and in Asia, respectively, by the Financial Times. The Department of Finance has been consistently ranked No. 1 in research in the Asia-Pacific region.

The HKUST Business School was the first business school in the region accredited by both the US-based Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB International) and the European Quality Improvement System (EQUIS). The School is always at the forefront of educational development and business thinking, and strives for excellence in research and teaching.

Our unique Asian and global perspectives are made possible by our international faculty members. Our graduates strive to make a positive impact on both the business world and wider society.
